In Transition

- © People working on things they believe in - right livelihood
- © People working cooperatively
- © Liked the idea of local money $$$ keep it here -
- © Local co-op ie. baby co-op - many models we can apply to boost local economy
- © Value everyone's time the same

- © Transition tavern was exciting!
  - Green drinks - talk with others about the environment
- © Thinking about what is the world that we want to live in - imagine it
- © Unhappiness with not knowing our neighbors + working long hours - exciting to remediate it
- © Struck by thrashing it out with neighbors - we don't know what will come out of it - but we're working through it together
- © How do we involve our locales with various backgrounds?
  - 💡 Festivals - it's a party - not just a protest
- © Bring people together with music 🎵
- © Is the Bay Area Self-Sufficient - Make a block a sustainable Holmgren - Permaculture

- © Landshoring is exciting - <sup>the</sup> Memorial to oil and to Delight + Teach
- © Partner with local governments + Neighborhood Associations
- © Cooking with fresh things, gardening, composting, CSA
- © The future is scary - this grass-roots movement brings hope - Community gardening
- © Smart to start with Peak oil - can imagine alternatives encourages going local, you can't debate it as well most people get that it's a problem
- © When gas hits $$$ + people will get it
- © The role of children was nice - showing what it means to them
- © People commute far which makes it difficult - plan for ways with the City to help people not need to commute
- © Liked envisioning the future + then take steps to get there - to support + recognize groups active doing things
- © Awareness + realize people share these ideas
- © This area is likely to encounter an earthquake or natural disaster - prepare with the community how can we come together - emergency planning
- © Loved emphasis on resiliency - to know it is there - water + food our water reserves - Solutions are fun
- © The vehicle to get to our destination is the community Natural human way to engage - we've just forgotten how to do this
